DETAILED ACTION

Receipt is acknowledged of the information disclosure statement filed 04/02/2004.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 1-47 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention.

While it is acknowledged that applicant obtained promising results during the experimental phase of this application, it must be questioned why 2/3 of the dogs used in this treatment protocol died. Further, while the conditions of the experimental analysis may be somewhat different from those encountered by normal patients, the question must be raised as to whether applicant has sufficiently enabled the claimed treatment when most of the "treated" population dies.

The two pertinent Wands factors which should be analyzed are:

2) The state of the prior art. Prior art use of the bioactive agents claimed in the application have been used separately in other treatment methods. Therefore it is established that they may produce some efficacy.

4) The predictability or unpredictability of the art. Since factor 2 establishes the use of these agents separately, it is then questioned whether the claimed combination is causing the death of 2/3 of the treated dogs.

Clarification is requested.

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 5, 24, 31, 33, 42, and 44 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The claims are indefinite in the listing of the two members of the Markush Group set out as "synthetic polymers" and "synthetically modified polymers". Specifically, it is not apparent how these two terms differ. It appears however, that applicant intended to set out "synthetically modified natural polymers", as described in the specification at page 22, line 21. Clarification and correction is requested.

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1-47 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-66 of U.S. Patent No. 6,730,313 (US'313). Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because US'313 claims a method of preventing or reducing intimal hyperplasia by contacting the exterior surface of the internal structure with a delivery vehicle comprising an intimal hyperplasia preventing agent, said drug delivery vehicle being substantially flowable during application to said exterior surface and substantially adheres to said exterior surface of said internal structure (see claim 1 of US '313). The same polymers, dosage delivery forms and routes of administration are all set out in the claims, and include microparticulate forms. Those of ordinary skill would therefore have expected similar therapeutic reduction of hyperplasia from the instant claims given the claims of US'313. The instant method of preventing or reducing intimal hyperplasia would have been obvious given the claims of US'313 which set out a similar method using the same materials and routes of administration.

Roth is cited as a patent of interest its disclosure of treating atherosclerosis. There is no teaching of administering multiple antiproliferative agents with different release rates in a controlled drug delivery system.
